

synthetic biology

journal club

Synthetic Biology is a new discipline that combines engineering principles with biological systems

Join the journal club to learn more about the field from synthetic biologists at Harvard and beyond

Visit harvardigem.org for the schedule and more info

